English National Ballet announces principal casting for Giselle

In its 75th Season, English National Ballet offers audiences the opportunity to see two versions of one of the great Romantic ballets, Giselle. Principal casting for both productions is announced today.

Having been seen by over 156,000 people in 11 countries and 17 cities around the world, Akram Khan's *Giselle opens English National Ballet's season with a return to London (Sadler's Wells) for the first time since 2019. In this acclaimed reimagining of the iconic ballet, Khan tells a story of love, betrayal, and redemption. The production features an imposing set designed by Academy Award-winner Tim Yip and a powerful score by Vincenzo Lamagna.

Principal casting for these performances sees debuts from Soloist Francesca Velicu in the role of Giselle; Soloist Rentaro Nakaaki in the role of Albrecht; First Artist Giorgio Garrett and Artist of the Company Jose María Lorca Menchón in the role of Hilarion; and Lead Principal Sangeun Lee and Junior Soloist Alice Bellini in the role of Myrtha.

Mary Skeaping's Giselle will tour to the Liverpool Empire and Manchester's Palace Theatre in the autumn, before returning to the London Coliseum in January 2025. With its beautiful classical language and thoughtful staging, this Giselle features some of ballet's most dramatic scenes and otherworldly images.

First Soloist Ivana Beuno will make her debut in the role of Giselle in Liverpool whilst First Soloist Lorenzo Trossello makes his debut as Albrecht in London. Also making debuts during this tour are First Soloist Julia Conway, First Artist Eireen Evrard and Junior Soloist Anna Nevzorova, who will perform as Myrtha for the first time.
